

353 records isn't the real number.

There are an estimated 10,000–30,000 felony animal-cruelty convictions in the U.S. every year — most tucked inside county court portals, search-only registries, and paywalled federal PACER records. Closing that gap requires data-sharing agreements with the organizations that already hold the data.

353

VERIFIED RECORDS TODAY

50

U.S. STATES COVERED

56

CRIME CATEGORIES

100%

PUBLIC-SOURCE CITED

WHAT WE OFFER PARTNERS

■ Full public attribution

Every partner-sourced record tags 'Data-sharing partner · [Your Org]' — visible on the public site.

■ API + analytics access

Partner staff get API-level registry access plus anonymized quarterly aggregate analytics.

■ MOU + takedown protection

Formal written agreement; existing takedown workflow protects partners from legal exposure.

■ Zero-cost infrastructure

Free to use, free to publish to; no per-record fees, no retention clauses, no lock-in.

WHAT WE'D ASK

- One-time or rolling export (CSV/JSON) of named-defendant conviction records.
- Point-of-contact for ongoing updates, correction requests, and takedown review.
- Review + approval of any text describing the partnership on our public site.

Start the conversation.

30-minute intro call, shared schema review, and a draft MOU within a week.

DIRECT CONTACT

info@pawsonrecord.com

pawsonrecord.com/partnerships